

Regents Seek Medical School for Milwaukee

It may be possible to find the medical school for Milwaukee — and it may be from scratch or four to five years.

Dr. Nelson said the start will be from scratch. UW-Milwaukee would be able to use the resources of the top medical center at the time he said.

But no one feels this will be an easy job. It is a difficult task, the president admitted.

Nelson urged the regents to include support for the Marquette school in their statement to draw quick support from the regents. The fight was expected before the vote, however.

The needed bid Dr. Nelson said "That is a rather insignificant amount" to keep a medical school in operation. It would only be money well spent to the school open "if it can be budgeted," he argued.

Officials assured the board statement is not meant as an

Nigeria Claims Military Gains

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Federal troops have knocked out three Biafran tank-like troop carriers in sweeping to towns within 20 miles of Enugu, the government newspaper Morning Post reported today.

A federal communique, however, said only that all was going well according to plan, in the Lagos government's efforts to put down a civil war which began in July after the Eastern Region of the country seceded and became Biafra.

The Morning Post reported federal troops in the villages of the Aku and Ukehe north of Enugu, the capital of the secessionist regime, and that during an advance south in the Nsukka sector troops knocked out three armored troop carriers on tank tracks, part of a load reportedly landed at Calabar several weeks ago.

attempt to hurt Marquette.

"It is not our intention to support, supplant or replace any medical school in this state," said Arthur DeBardleben, Park Falls, in supporting the administration.

"All we are saying is that we will meet the goals, meet the needs, take up the slack" in medical education needs in Wisconsin, he said.

dummy's trump holding since he had expected at least four trumps for the raise to four hearts. Suspecting that the trumps would break miserably, South did what he could to take out insurance.

Declarer won the first trick with the ace of spades, led a club to the ace and ruffed a club. He next held his breath while he cashed the top diamonds and continued with a diamond ruff in dummy. Then he ruffed a club with the nine of hearts, fearing an overruff.

When West followed suit, South knew the entire hand. West's bidding showed a seven-card spade suit, and West had already played three clubs and three diamonds. There was no room in the West hand for a single heart.

Continues Crossruff

South ruffed another diamond in dummy, ruffed a club in his hand and led a trump to dummy's king. Then he led the queen of clubs from dummy.

East's last three cards were the Q-J-8 of trumps, and South had the A-10 of trumps and the low spade. If East ruffed low, South would overruff with the ten and take the ace of hearts, thus winning the first 12 tricks.

East did his best by ruffing with the queen of hearts. South would go down if he overruffed, but he wasn't blind to the problem. South discarded his spade, allowing East to win the trick. Now East had to lead from his J-8, allowing South to make the last two tricks with the A-10 of trumps.

Answer: Bid three spades. Your trumps are so strong that you are unlikely to be doubled for penalties. You will rob the opponents of bidding space, making it difficult for them to reach their best contract.

Diversion Hoax Backfires; Pair Ruled Disorderly

CHARLESTON, Ill. (AP) — Two Eastern Illinois University pranksters got a real charge out of their mischievous activities recently.

Authorities said Gene Biha, 19, of Mokena, pretended to have been hit by an auto while he was walking past a university dorm.

Police said the accident was staged to divert attention from his cohort, Arthur Roth of Waukegan, who was trying to retrieve a Confederate flag from the dormitory. Police said the pair claimed the flag was theirs.

Both were charged with disorderly conduct.

Your Problems

Parents Encourage Dishonesty By Not Asking Some Questions

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Summer is nearly over, but I would like to say a word to parents who may not be paying much attention to their children because they think they are nice, normal kids.

I was a playground instructor for 10 weeks. Playground instructors have very little authority over the children. Almost every day playground equipment disappeared, acoustical tiles were knocked out of the ceilings and carried off, class projects were stolen before the paint had a chance to dry. It is impossible to watch every child every minute and I never believed it was necessary — until I became a playground instructor.

Please tell parents to keep an eye on what their children bring home. If a kid turns up with a "strange" ball, bat or other sports equipment, he should be made to take it back.

Kids who are allowed to keep things they have carried off get the idea that it's perfectly all right to do so. — Bug-Eyed at What Kids Steal

Dear Bug: Thank you for your letter. Small acts of dishonesty when ignored encourage more daring acts. Take heed, parents.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: "Philadelphia Gram" prompts this letter. She is the woman who sent her grandchildren cash for birthdays and Christmas and never received an acknowledgment.

My niece and nephew were extremely negligent about letting me know they received my gifts. Sometimes their mother would write, "Oh, by the way, the kids sure liked their Christmas presents." One day when they were visiting I told my sister I was getting tired of having not only their love but their respect, as well. — Aunt Margaret

Dear Aunt: You did those children a bigger favor than you may realize. Burning in silence is no way to improve a situation. I am a strong believer in setting the record straight. Often people don't know how you feel until you tell them.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Have you lost your marbles? Why did you say worshippers on vacation should dress up when they attend church?

People should not have to drag their misery along when they go to the woods or to the seashore or to a fishing camp. A vacation should be a vacation. If one were to follow your advice, it would be appropriate to substitute the bulletin announcing the title of the sermon with a sign reading, "Fashion Show Begins at 11 a.m." How dumb can you get? — Madison, Wis.

Dear Mad: If you'll wipe the foam off your mouth and listen, I'll repeat. Nobody said church goers should dress to the teeth. I said it is in poor taste to go to church barefoot, in bathing suits, shorts and bikinis. Got it straight?

Miniskirts Banned In Parts of Vatican or I read your letter. I took to the closet and looked at all my husband's, and sure enough it was gray, too. I tried washing it in my wash tub. True, the detergent got the colors and softness, but it was gray.

I took it to my kitchen and put my biggest stainless steel mixing bowl. (A glass or metal bowl will do just as well as aluminum.) I poured in a heaping spoonful of electric dishwasher compound, turned on my hot faucet and filled dish with big mixing bowl half full of water.

As soon as the granules dissolved, I put a half-bushel (about two tablespoons) of salt in the water and added cold water. Then I dunked shirt in my mixing bowl. I let it sit for about 15 minutes, then the water turned gray as a rainy Monday. And I didn't take but about three minutes.

As soon as the water discolored, I rinsed it again and made another new mixture. I used potato master instead of my salt. I remember don't ever put hands in strong detergents or caustic mixtures if you can help it.

Asens to Betsy, it was purely out of this world. You might try this method for yourself and your husband.

By the way, don't ever put a man-made fabric in hot water. When you have to dissolve any kind of granules or powders in warm water, pour your product in first. Add a little hot water and let the crystals dissolve, then fill it up with cold water. This prevents wrinkles! I know, I learned the hard way.

And knowing that some of these things were caustics, I did something else. After rinsing it again, I took my little old friend the bottle of vinegar, and poured about a half cup back in the mixing bowl. Filled it up with warm water and put the shirt back in again.

Do not rinse the vinegar water solution out. The odor of vinegar will evaporate when your shirt dries!

Then I just put it on a plastic coat hanger and let it dry. I think I've got the whitest shirt in town now.

Thank you for writing. If you hadn't, I would never have figured out how to get my own husband's synthetic shirts white.

Heloise

Dear Heloise: Needing a place to put my canned goods and staples that would be more convenient to my cooking area, I stacked two unused bookcases one on top of the other, in a corner of the kitchen.

Now I have plenty of room for everything and it is more convenient being able to find what I want immediately without having to stoop to look into a dark cabinet or a walk-in closet.

If one wishes, they could hang a drape or matchstick shade from the top bookcase with an ordinary curtain rod or a draw-drape rod.

Great Mission Too Great; So University President Stays in Dark

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The University of Minnesota is working on a government project so secret that not even the president of the university knows what it is.

Neither do the regents, who, nonetheless, approved continuation of the year-old project Friday after Vice President Lawrence R. Lundin said the "people working on it want it continued." The federal government says it is important for the defense effort.

Officials said Malcolm Macmillan, a former speechwriter for President Eisenhower who became University president Sept. 1, has not yet been cleared by the federal government to handle classified materials.

Byrnes Wins Fight for U. S. Shipyards

Congressional approval of the amendment to the defense appropriation bill which will forbid the construction of American Navy ships in foreign shipyards must be scored in large part as a result of the tenacity of Rep. John Byrnes of Green Bay and as an indication of the value of his seniority in the House. But approval of the amendment also means the recording of another public doubt over the way the administration is running the defense establishment.

Gaining approval of the amendment was an uphill fight. Rep. Byrnes won House approval in the original defense appropriations bill, but the amendment was removed by the Senate and kept out of the bill which came later from a conference committee of the two houses. The House put the amendment back in the bill, and, somewhat surprisingly, it gained 42 to 29 Senate approval in the final bill despite the opposition of the administration and a warning of Defense Secretary Robert McNamara that a $2.6 billion arms deal with Great Britain might go down the drain.

At the start, the effort of Rep. Byrnes might have been viewed as little more than a provincial effort since the basic facts were that seven minesweepers with an estimated construction cost of $60 million, which could have been bid on by shipyards in Sturgeon Bay, Marinette, and Manitowoc, were to be limited to bidding from English shipyards. But as the struggle over the Byrnes amendment unfolded, important national policy questions were raised.

It was explained from the start that the Defense Department agreement to buy the minesweepers from English shipyards was in return for the English order for 50 of the controversial new American multi-purpose fighter plane, the F-111A. But it went beyond that, as Rep. Byrnes disclosed to the nation.

The Archbishop on Father Groppi

The words of Archbishop William Cousins, in answer to demands that he take disciplinary action against Father James Groppi for the latter's civil rights activities, ought to be carefully considered by everyone concerned with the problems of urban areas.

The Archbishop pointed out that the civil rights argument has unfortunately deteriorated by making Father Groppi an issue in himself. "Do you honestly believe Father Groppi's absence from the scene would somehow miraculously heal all wounds and cure all our social ills? . . . More to the point, the underlying causes of unrest pointed up by the youth council would go on plaguing us. They existed long before Father Groppi's advent. . . . People are so disturbed by his actions that they lose sight of the cause for which he is fighting — that of freedom and human dignity. As Christians we favor the same just cause, but many are being sidetracked into a hate campaign directed against one man."

No one will ever know exactly how the racial unrest in Milwaukee would have developed without Father Groppi. Certainly he is a moving force in the decision of members of the NAACP youth council to picket the homes of public officials who are members of clubs which discriminate against Negroes. His fiery approach to the problems of ghetto living certainly has inspired militancy. It just happens that when a people are persuaded that they are equal and are self-respecting, they begin to demand rights and attitudes from those who insist upon considering them inferior. A great deal of Father Groppi's efforts have been extended toward persuading the Negro that he is not an inferior being and

The Advice Explosion

The Council on Home and Family has drafted a bill to tighten up the state's marriage laws, and while proposals such as raising the marriage age for girls to 18 and requiring persons under 21 to secure parental consent gained support at a legislative hearing, one other provision of the bill appeared a bit ridiculous.

The Council suggested that each county clerk be required to hand out a booklet of marriage advice to each person issued a license. The booklet was entitled With This Ring I Thee Wed.

Publishing booklets of advice on everything from bringing up children to treating

In return for about $2.6 billion in military orders, the Defense Department agreed to about $350 million in purchases of military goods from Britain. And Byrnes also disclosed that the Defense Department also had agreed to withdraw from competition in favor of England for about $400 million in sales to third countries, a highly doubtful decision from the standpoint of administrative authority to do so. Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon denounced the whole business during the Senate debate as "a secret deal" and said it was time for Congress to act against the taking of extra-constitutional powers by the Defense Department.

Why was the shipbuilding industry singled out for penalty for what was essentially an aircraft deal? Rep. Byrnes has suggested it was because the industry, failing in many parts of the nation, has small lobbying clout in Washington compared with aircraft manufacturers.

The administration has a recognizable problem in trying to help the weakening British economy and in trying to delay or reverse English decisions to pull back from military commitments to Western Europe. But basic defense considerations were being risked by the deal. The nation was being asked to place its future in the hands of foreign shipyards, subject to future policy changes abroad which may not necessarily line up with American policy. Meanwhile, the ability of American shipyards to respond to quick emergency was to be further endangered.

Rep. Byrnes has won an important victory for the economy and job market of his district. But his battle against the defense establishment also raised policy and constitutional questions which could not be turned aside. The proof of that was in the one-sided roll calls in the House and Senate on his amendment.

Unfortunately a great deal of white middle class America continues to believe just the opposite.

But without Father Groppi it could be that the unrest in Milwaukee would have exploded into far greater violence than did occur. The strict curfew immediately applied in July by Mayor Maier was effective in holding down violence. But the same tactics did not work a second time. It is quite likely that it has been Father Groppi and other civil rights leaders trusted by those in the inner core who have been instrumental in seeing that the demonstrations and marches by the Negro population have been generally peaceful. We might even wish that the white marchers had similar leadership.

All members of the special community relations committee appointed by Mayor Maier to ease tensions in Milwaukee have recommended the "passing of a city open housing ordinance. There are drawbacks to an ordinance limited only to the city. But as one member of the commission pointed out, open housing has become a symbol of listening to the problems of the inner core and as such could serve to reduce tensions. This is a limited accommodation, however. As the Archbishop said, "It has been charged, though without foundation, that the church has tiptoed in civil rights because it is afraid to offend its more affluent membership. I wonder if we can ever be so false to Christ's teaching as to buy our way through compromise."

There will have to be compromise if the Milwaukee city council is going to pass an open housing ordinance. It will have to be on the part of the aldermen who have opposed it. Being against open housing because Father Groppi is for it is no way to run a city.

worms in dogs has become one of the rapidly proliferating functions of government in this age of the knowledge explosion. And offhand it would appear that young people about to enter into marriage could well use some advice.

But Assemblyman Shabaz of New Berlin questioned whether couples who are at the point of obtaining their wedding license are of a mind and mood to sit down and read a booklet of advice in the last five days before their wedding.

Maybe the members of the Council who prepared this proposal have been too long married to recall those last hectic days before the march to the altar.

Coffee Drinkers Spend as Much as South American Makes in Wages

BY DONNA DICKENSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If you drink three cups of coffee a day, you spend about as much each year as some South American coffee workers earn annually.

The average Latin American peasant earns approximately $150 a year — a little less than what you'd pay for three daily 15-cent cups of coffee during that period.

Rural workers in many South American countries struggle with uneven land distribution, a shortage of developed land, vast numbers of sharecroppers, landless tenant farmers, and farms too small to support the families working them. Poor conditions like these spell low agricultural yields — dangerous for a region in which agriculture is the main way of life.

And rural unrest undoubtedly helps the Castro-style guerrillas operating in Bolivia, Venezuela, Colombia, Guatemala, Haiti, and Peru.

IMPROVEMENT NOTED

The last few years have seen considerable improvement in many South American agricultural problems. Almost every country now has some kind of land reform.

Venezuela has distributed land to about 115,000 families. Bolivia has eliminated most of its enormous semi-feudal estates. Peru, Colombia, and Ecuador have given property rights to many landless workers, and Chile's president last month signed into law one of the most ambitious reform programs on the continent. In Colombia, the Roman Catholic Church is lending vital support to the land redistribution program.

Latin American land problems comprise a number of relays and George Hermesen treasurer.

10 YEARS AGO

Saturday Sept. 14, 1957.

New officers of the Kaukauna Homemakers Club were Mrs. Louis Vanervenhoven, president; Mrs. Marvin Schuler, vice president; Mrs. William Knapp, secretary, and Mrs. Vincent Kehoe, treasurer.

Mrs. Douglas Frost was serving as chairman for the 1957 Girl Scout fund drive in Clintonville. Working with her as area co-chairmen were Mrs. Dan McCarthy, Mrs. George Nuske, Mrs. Gerald Grunski, Mrs. Kenneth Luebke, Mrs. Gordon Poole, Mrs. Frank Braun, Mrs. Marvin Wendorf, Mrs. Walter Meidahl, Mrs. W. J. Boulet and TMrs. Milton Boehlke.

ills, which demand a variety of solutions.

One kind of land reform is redistribution of public lands or large, idle estates — a program which has had fair success in Mexico, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, and Venezuela. Equalizing land holdings is vital in Latin America because almost every country is plagued with "too little or too much" distribution — land patterns in which holdings are either too large or too small to be farmed efficiently.

Estate owners, who can live comfortably on revenues from a fraction of their holdings, have little incentive to plant their idle lands. Farmers whose acres are just barely enough for subsistence can't afford machinery to improve their yields.

In Argentina, holdings over 10,000 acres constitute one-half of one per cent of the total farms — but contain a third of the agricultural land. Peru's large landowners, whose farms are about two per cent of the total holdings, are jammed onto a scant five per cent of the land.

LAND REFORM LAGS

But the Inter-American Development Bank reports that land redistribution was the slowest-moving agrarian reform in 1956 — partly due to problems in expropriation. Only Cuba has confiscated large holdings without payment. All other countries offer compensation.

But some Latin American legislatures, many dominated by landowners, require their governments to pay cash for confiscated lands — an impossible demand for poor, underdeveloped states. Most successful land-reform programs allow the government to pay for land in long-term bonds.

Nevertheless, farm redistribution isn't enough to turn landless squatters into efficient landowners. In Latin America, where illiteracy rates run as high as 80 per cent, peasants tend to follow their ancestors' outdated farming practices.

Bolivia's Indians, accustomed to a self-sufficient, isolated, barter economy, provided the country's reformists with a major snag: They didn't want to bring their crops to market at all.

Rural education has become another type of land reform in many countries. Local governments, private agencies, and foreign nations — including the U.S.A. — now train agricultural specialists to teach the farmers better methods.

Educating the farmers also benefits the economy as a whole. Mexico and Bolivia are examples of countries which saw crop production drop drastically after reform began — mainly because of too-small land allotments and backwardness among rural workers. Now many South American countries have shifted the land reform emphasis from equalizing holdings to boosting agricultural income for the entire nation.

Improving the peasant's condition also involves a third reform plan: giving property rights. Giving land to tenants who have worked the landowner's property for a specified period of time is one way to eliminate semi-feudal conditions and indentured labor.

The Inter-American Development Bank says land tiling has made the most significant progress of any reform.

Other agrarian programs under way in Latin America include survey of lands, organization of rural cooperatives, and government loans to small farmers. A very limited amount of progress is being made in progressive taxation, which favors small, high-yield farms and discriminates against idle estates.

But a large number of agricultural ills remain uncurbed by the reforms of the past few years.

Although most Latin American governments supposedly favor land reform, legislators who belong to the privileged classes can build crippling planks into agrarian legislation. Some governments are still required to pay cash for expropriated land — a handicap to reform.

Several years ago, Pedro Beltran, Peru's former prime minister, proposed "agrarian reform" for his country. But some observers say his "noble ideal" was just a plan for moving the Peruvian Indians from the heavily populated valleys to barren, unoccupied land on the mountain slopes.

Even in Mexico, where reform began half a century ago, large estates still exist. Landowners get around the law by "dividing" their estates into many sections, registered in the name of different members of the landowner's family.

And too many people on too little land seems to be an incurable problem for nations with limited soil suitable for farming. Peru's cultivated land constitutes less than 1.5 per cent of the country's total area, and in Mexico, 99 per cent of the arable land is too dry to support crops without expensive irrigation.

Wisconsin Report

No Economic Case Can be Made for Tax Increase, Proxmire

BY SEN. WILLIAM PROX-MIRE

WASHINGTON, D.C. — I think it was a mistake for President Johnson to propose a 10 per cent across-the-board tax surcharge at this time because there is just no economic case for a tax increase now.

Proxmire

For almost a year, the American economy has been virtually standing still. Industrial production has actually declined since a year ago. The economic signposts have, it is true, shown a slight quickening in the economy's pace recently but not much.

The great economic upsurge between 1954 and 1956 was driven by an unprecedented expansion in capital goods production. In the past six months that expansion has not only stopped, it has declined.

And with the nation's production now down to 84 per cent of capacity compared to 91 per cent in January, the incentive to invest in plant and equipment has evaporated. It is interesting that the Administration won a tax reduction in 1964 — in part — because production was at 84 per cent of capacity.

MAY FACE RECESSION

At any rate, capital goods production is certainly not going to stimulate the economy to boom proportions in the foreseeable future as it did back in 1964. If anything, we may face a capital goods recession.

A case can be made for a tax increase when the economy is booming, when there are broad shortages of labor, when production is pressing hard against capacity. Indeed, in such an inflationary situation a rise in taxes may be very wise economic policy. Under such circumstances, higher taxes cool down a super-heated economy. They reduce income and prevent inflationary pressures.

But we are nowhere near that kind of economic situation in America today.

Instead of cooling down a super-heated economy, the President's proposed tax increase will only nip in the bud the kind of economic growth we vitally need if the economy is to be nursed back to the robust health it enjoyed during the boom.

GROWTH RATE DOWN

Economic growth would have to reach an annual rate of about five per cent in real, not inflationary terms, to put us near our goal of an economy in which our work force and our plants and equipment are close to being fully utilized. But the current economic situation suggests that the growth rate this year will not exceed three per cent. This means our economy this year is growing at only about half the rate of the Soviet economy.

The President argues that the tax increase is needed to hold down the size of the budget deficit, which it appears now will be double or even triple the estimate made in January. This, of course, is due primarily to Vietnam war costs.

The tax increase would probably raise some additional revenue but because it will tend to reduce your income and mine, as well as the income of corporations, the higher tax rates will yield much less revenue than the Administration now expects.

INCREASES LIVING COSTS

And because the tax increase is a necessary cost to the taxpayer, it adds to the burden of the cost of living. What we really need now are some major cuts in public expenditures. If the Administration would provide the leadership, we could reduce the 1968 federal budget — by billions of dollars.

As long as the Administration fights to maintain the current spending level, it is virtually impossible to reduce it significantly.

The spending categories where I think major cuts can be made are in public works projects, which are largely political "pork barrel" and should be postponed until military and economic demands are reduced; the space program, particularly such projects as a softlanding on Mars, which would not suffer from a delay; the supersonic transport, which is little more than a gift to the jet set at taxpayer expense; and American troop strength in Europe, which I think can be substantially reduced.

In proposing the tax increase, I think the Administration has misread the economic signposts. We have to put at the top of our list of national objectives restoration of a favorable growth rate, which is vital if we are to meet the enormous domestic and international challenges that face us. A tax increase now would only delay that restoration.

LaFollette Defends Site Appeal Action

Editor, Post-Crescent.

This is a copy of a letter sent to Assemblyman William Rogers, Kaukauna, by Atty. Gen. LaFollette:

Thank you very much for your letter in which you inquire about the lawsuit regarding the University site and The Post-Crescent editorial regarding this matter.

The editorial is based on a faulty premise. It assumes that the purpose of the appeal to the Supreme Court at this point is to delay the termination of the lawsuit. This simply is not true. As I said at the time we took the appeal, it is my judgment that an appeal at this stage holds the most promise for an early conclusion to the litigation.

The alternative to an appeal at this stage is to attempt to take the matter to trial. It is our judgment that a trial conducted at this time would be conducted under an erroneous theory of law. No matter who prevailed at the trial level there would be an almost certain appeal at the conclusion of the trial. Such an appeal would raise the same legal questions that we are raising in the present appeal. The only difference would be that we would have had to go through the time-consuming process of a trial before we would have these legal issues resolved.

I assure you that I agree that the legal issues in this case should be resolved as quickly as possible for the benefit of all of the people of the State of Wisconsin. I hope that this explanation makes it clear why I believe that the procedure we have selected will lead to the earliest possible conclusion of the case.

Bronson C. LaFollette

Doesn't Want Stores Open On Sundays

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I read the article in The Post-Crescent where some of the ministers in town were trying in some way to stop the opening of stores for shopping on Sunday. I certainly hope, for one, that someone can or could put a stop to shopping on Sunday.

Sunday should be a day of rest and relaxation spent with your family at home.

A clerk who might— have to work on Sunday!

Young and Aggie Patrice Leary is one of the many featured star skaters with the 22nd edition of Holiday on Ice coming to The Brown County Veterans Memorial Arena Tuesday, Sept. 26. Performances are scheduled for 8 p.m. nightly through Friday, 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 30, and 5 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 1. The Sunday performance is set early so as not to interfere with the Green Bay Packers game. Tickets are available at Berggren's Sport Store in Appleton and Look Drug Store in Kaukauna.

'Ironsides' Definitely Promising TV Series

After Perry Mason, Actor Raymond Burr Has Tough Job to Change 9-Year Image

BY JINGO
 The bulk of the television displayed some uncomfortable premieres has ended, but a few tend to be a little bit of a still trickle in Thursday night's few. It's lines. Jingo can't blame alone only in fact, turned out to them.

Ironside (7:30-8:30 Channels 4-5) — Perhaps there has never been a challenge presented to a TV actor quite like Raymond Burr received as title star of the series. For nine years the American public thought of Burr as Perry Mason, a character in which he became so firmly entrenched his chance of ever being believable in another role were greatly reduced. As Robert Ironside, crippled Chief of Detectives at San Francisco, Burr presents a much tougher characterization, though the visual recognition of Perry Mason cannot be overlooked, even with Ironside operating out of a wheelchair.

Exciting First Show
 Despite a few clumsy aspects of cutting and editing, the initial offering was exciting and showed promise that Ironside could evolve into a highly successful venture.

Burr may never be able to completely shake the Mason image, but Jingo sure loved seeing the gifted actor in a different role.

His partners include Detective Sergeant Ed Brown, played by Don Galloway, Policewoman Eve Whitfield (Barbara Anderson) and former delinquent who provides the legs. Ironside no longer has Mark Sanger (Don Mitchell). The supporting cast

West Germany Okays $20 Million Budget

BONN, Germany (AP) — The West German Cabinet voted unanimously Wednesday for a record budget of more than $20 billion for 1968. It must be confirmed by both houses of Parliament.

The proposed budget would cut $354 million from defense spending, bringing it to $4.5 billion. The government has assured its critics the cut will not weaken the German army.

More spending is planned for farmers and for social benefit programs.

Three Youths Hurt as Car Leaves Road

Hospital Reports Trio's Condition As Satisfactory

OSHKOSH — Three 15-year-old Neenah youths are listed in "good condition" at Theda Clark Memorial Hospital after the car in which they were riding went out of control and crashed at 9:30 p.m. Friday on Larsen Road in the Town of Clayton.

County police said they were passengers in a car operated by Steven Hanamann, 16, of 414 Lincoln Ave., Neenah. Hanamann was not injured.

Police said the injured youths are Barbara Miller, 131 Poplar Court; Jan Hackstock, 142 Courtney Court; and Tim A. Bigalke, 909 Betty Ave.

According to police, Hanamann was driving east on Larsen Road when he lost control of the vehicle on the wet road. The car went into a ditch, hit a utility pole and then struck a driveway culvert. The car was a total wreck, police said.

Enrollment At WSU-O Jumps 1,049

OSHKOSH — Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh enrollment is continuing its record-breaking pace this fall, according to unofficial figures released by the university. As of Friday, Sept. 15, 9,316 on-campus students had registered for the 1967-68 term, representing an increase of 1,049 over last year's enrollment of 8,267.

Registration at the Oshkosh institution has increased by 1,000 or more each year since 1964. The largest single jump was in 1965, when the student body increased by more than 1,700.

Counted in this fall's enrollment are 8,261 undergraduate day students, 592 in the on-campus continuing education program and 473 graduate students. Not counted are several hundred persons registering at the university's off-campus extension centers.

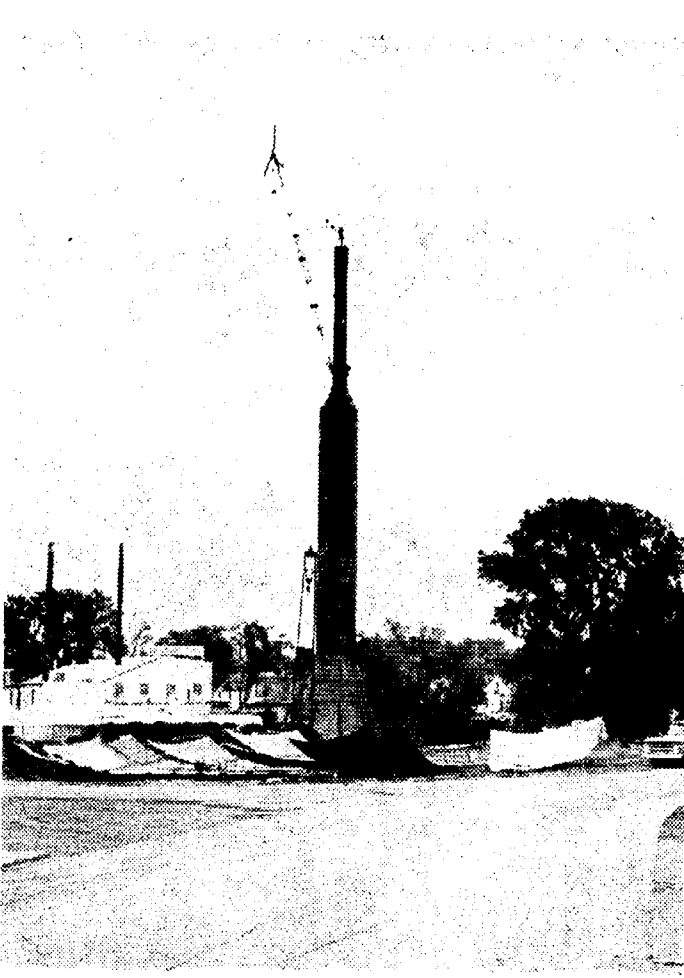

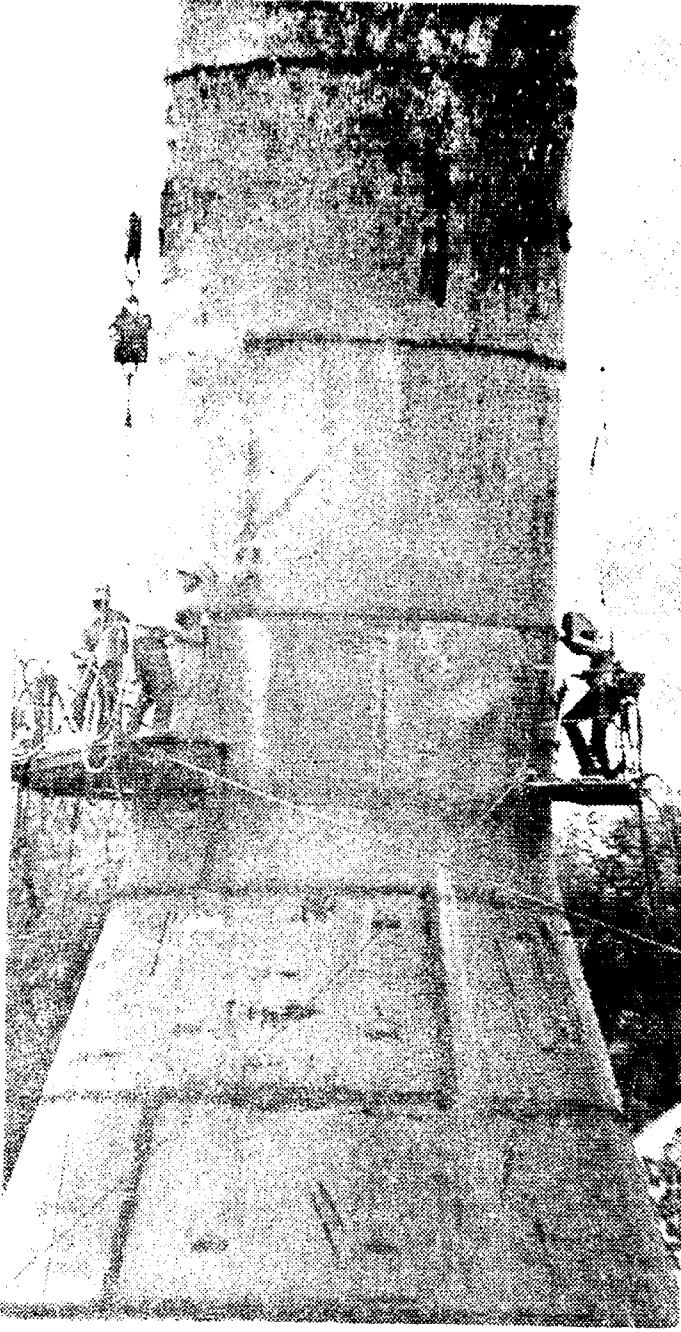

Although a final, official count and breakdown will not be available for a few days, it is estimated that the figure 9,316 includes some 2,800 new freshmen.

Ten years ago the total enrollment at WSU-O was 1,552. The figure had increased to 2,251 in 1960, 3,324 in 1962, and 5,376 in 1964.

Site Selection Debate Slated

MENASHA — The University of Wisconsin — Green Bay site dispute will be aired at a meeting of the Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce Governmental Affairs division breakfast at 7:30 a.m. Sept. 23 at the Menasha Hotel. Representatives from both guest speakers.

Outagamie County and Green Bay will make 20 minute presentations of the board of directors of the tations on the Larsen Farm — Menasha chapter and its trea-Shoreswood site dispute. Robert Torgeron will serve as moderator for his 27 years of volunteer service.

Progress Report Issued

Continued Fund Drive Urged for CHS

NEENAH-MENASHA — A continued while full evaluation is half year period. A half year committee studying the proposed new Catholic high school for representing each of the five Neenah-Menasha parishes, said in a progress report today.

The study is now in the second of three phases. On completion, a recommendation will be made to Bishop Stanislaus Bona of the Green Bay Diocese.

The bishop has said that half of the estimated building fund must be collected before the project can start. To date, the five parishes have collected total pledges of $732,903.

Cash on hand in the high school fund as of the end of July was $429,677. The pledges were to be collected over a two and a half year period.

The new chairman also was re-elected to the board for a three year term with James D. Howley and Mrs. Robert Putman. Two new board members elected were Mrs. Lee Forman and Robert E. Harper.

Sixty-five Red Cross volunteers and officers, including special guest and speaker James Gosdin, national field representative of American Red Cross, attended the meeting at Ger-

Donald Gibson of the Presbyterian Church, Neenah, gave division breakfast at 7:30 a.m. Sept. 23 at the Menasha Hotel. Representatives from both guest speakers.

Menasha Man Fined On Disorderly Count

OSHKOSH — Harold Ganzel, 45, of 405 Broad St., Menasha, pleaded guilty Friday in County Court Branch 3 to a charge of disorderly conduct.

Ganzel was arrested by Menasha Police earlier Friday when he created a disturbance at his home.

County Judge James V. Sitter fined Ganzel $100 plus costs or 30 days in the county jail.

Aids Cut County Share Of Hospital Expenses

WINNEBAGO — Operation of the Winnebago County Hospital during 1966 is expected to cost the taxpayers of Winnebago County approximately $105,000 less than it did this year.

Federal and state aids are cited as the major reason for lifting the financial burden from the county in the proposed $1,347,569 budget.

The two per cent increase in the budget over the $1.2 million budget for 1967 reflects one of the best income pictures the county hospital has enjoyed in recent years, a member of the Institutions Committee said at the final session Thursday.

Last year the cost to the county for operation the hospital was $495,000 and it will cost the county $390,357 in 1968.

Another reason for reducing expense in the coming year is the establishment of a separate food service which will purchase and prepare food for residents of Pleasant Acres, the county's home for the aging.

The institutions committee and board of trustees gave their approval to the budget Thursday and it was presented to the finance committee of the county board before the midnight deadline. After the finance committee's review of the budget and alterations are made, it will become a part of the total county budget to be presented to the county board on Oct. 24.

Patients

There has been a steady increase in the number of patients at the county hospital, since Jan. 1, 1967. The number of patients on that date was 300, and this increased to 344 by July 1. The per capita cost during the fiscal year 1966-67 was $69.94, up $2.17 from 1965-66.

The anticipated revenue in 1968 from state and federal aids is set at $952,212, an increase of 16 per cent, or $133,211 above the 1967 revenue.

Title 19 accounts almost totally for this revenue increase, according to Superintendent Donald Zboray.

Last year there were approximately 100 patients over 65 years of age who were indigent and they were completely supported by the county and state social services, until they became beneficiaries under the medical assistance program Title 19," Zboray said.

"This cuts the cost to the county and we anticipate that more will become eligible during 1968."

Major expenditure items in the budget show that the cost of administration will be up $17,000 from the animal clinic on the next year. While salary increases account for the major portion of increases in all departments, most of the administrative increase will be for the cost of insurance and retirement plans.

Merits of the Three Year diploma nursing course as opposed to the four year baccalaureate program were the major topic for discussion as area nurses met for an in-service meeting Friday at Winnebago State Hospital. Examining the controversy are, left to right, Miss Mar-

Redemption Centers Will Be Debated

Twin Cities C of C To Sponsor Session On Pros, Cons

NEENAH — MENASHA — The Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce, which in the past has opposed trading stamp redemption centers, will sponsor a special meeting to hear the pros and cons on state legislation allowing the centers to be established in the state.

The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. Sept. 26, in the Community Room of the First National Bank of Neenah.

Invited to speak at the meeting are representatives of groups favoring and groups opposed to passage of the legislation.

A poll will be taken after the hour long discussion to provide direction for the chamber board.

At a recent meeting, one director pointed out that Wisconsin is one of the few states not allowing the redemption centers.

County Budgets Miss Deadline

OSHKOSH — A number of departmental budgets had not yet been completed Friday night, the deadline set by the county board's finance committee.

It was learned that a number of committees have not had budget meetings with the heads of departments under their control.

County Auditor M. H. Morrisette said a compiled budget probably would not go to the finance committee before Sept. 28. A proposed county budget goes to the entire board the last week in October.

Firm Changes Name

OSHKOSH — Wisconsin Distributing Co. of Oshkosh, Inc., has changed its name to Wisconsin Distributing Co. of Neenah, Inc.

The change appeared on an amendment to the corporation's articles filed Thursday with Viola Firnstahl, county register of deeds.

Federal, State Grants Pay Half of Project Expense; Board Action Set Tuesday

OSHKOSH — The Winnebago County Board Tuesday will be asked to provide a control tower at the county airport.

The resolution specifying the amount needed had not yet been drawn Friday afternoon, but the figure could be as much as $127,385.

Representatives of the State Aeronautics Commission will appear before the board in a special order of business at 1:30 p.m.

The Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) has estimated the cost of land acquisition and construction for the tower at $365,750. A federal grant toward the project of $158,375 had previously been announced. In addition, the state will pay $30,000, leaving the county's share at $177,385. The county had placed $50,000 in the 1967 budget toward the project.

Surplus Funds

The county had received a rebate of slightly more than $36,000 from a previous airport project and this money was turned in to the county's general fund. The aviation committee is expected to ask that those funds be earmarked for the control tower.

On the current runway project, the county is expected to have a surplus of about $67,000 because of the bids being lower than the estimates. However, it is doubted these funds would be available for several years.

The added funds would either have to be made available in a general fund transfer, or more probably, by short term borrowing with the money replaced in the 1968 budget.

Donald Sherman, state supervisor of assessments for the Fond du Lac district, will appear before the board at 10:30 a.m. to report on the 1967 real estate and personal property assessments for the county.

The annual report includes all categories of assessments for each town, village and city in the county, showing the changes from last year and the ratio of assessed valuations against equalized valuations.

A transfer of $33,000 from the highway department's maintenance and construction fund to the snow removal fund will be asked.

The county had budgeted $50,000 for snow removal this year.

and also had $20,000 left over from 1966. All of that, plus $1,878 was spent between January and April as the result of several major storms which included high winds and considerable drifting. The additional $30,000 to carry the county through the end of December.

Rate increases at the new Pleasant Acres Home also will be asked. The proposed rates are $7.50 per day for minimum care, $11.50 per day for moderate care and $15 per day for maximum care. Current rates are $6, $8 and $10 per day.

Also up for board approval is an agreement to permit the county guidance center to provide its services to Green Lake County.

The program to be made available to Green Lake County residents would include 16 hours of social services, two hours of psychologist service and two hours of psychiatric service per week.

Green Lake County would pay $16,070 per year for the program.

Three-Car Mishap Injures Two in Town of Menasha

OSHKOSH — A three-car accident at 4:25 p.m. Friday in the Town of Menasha caused injury to two people and an estimated total damage of $1,600.

County police said a car driven east on George Street by Donald G. Schinke, 58, of 218 E. McKinley St., failed to yield the right-of-way to a car operated by Austin J. Boncher, 26, of 723 a.m. to report on the 1967 real estate and personal property assessments for the county.

The Boncher vehicle hit Schinke's car, which then skidded into the path of a car driven by Ann E. Vandenberg, 30, of 112 Anton Court, the county, showing the changes from last year and the ratio of assessed valuations against equalized valuations.

A transfer of $33,000 from the highway department's maintenance and construction fund to the snow removal fund will be asked.

The county had budgeted $50,000 for snow removal this year.

Works Board to Set Formula on Service Charges

Plan Would Affect Tax-Exempt Property, Including Schools

Informal approval was given Friday for the department of public works to work out a formula whereby non-profit groups owning property would be charged for municipal services.

The service charge on tax-exempt properties is being levied in some Wisconsin cities and others are considering such a policy, according to the council's street-sanitation committee.

When the committee met Friday afternoon, its chairman, Ald. Roy Pointer (14th), said work had been done on arriving at cost charges but the study was still in the preliminary stage.

School Included
The Appleton Public School District would be included among those to be assessed a charge for municipal sewer and garbage-rubbish collection services, the committee said.

Public Works Director Frank Keuler said he hoped to have cost figures for the committee to study in the near future.

And it was disclosed that City Atty David Geenen is looking into the legal aspects.

Pointer reminded that the question of charging tax-exempt properties (estimated at over $100 million worth in Appleton) will be one of the matters to be discussed by the Alliance of Cities conference here next Wednesday.

Clerk's Office Remodeling Cost $19,039

Bids for Kaukauna City Hall Project Opened This Week

KAUKAUNA — Cost of remodeling the clerk's office at city hall totals $19,039, based on low bids accepted by the utility commission subject to approval of Sauter and Seaborne. Architects

Oudenhoven Construction Co., Kaukauna, was low bidder for general construction at $10,295. Five bids were received with a high of $16,013. Four bids were received for heating, and air conditioning ranging from low of $4,794 by Haas Hardware Kaukauna, to a high of $8,700.

Three bids were received for electrical work low being $3,950 by Thoma Electric Service, Neenah, to a high of $5,038.

Work on remodeling is scheduled to start as soon as bids are checked with specifications. Under the proposed plan, the city clerk would be provided with a private office as well as increased space for record storage.

A central desk would be located on the second floor of city hall where the city stenographer could also serve as receptionist. This would be the first step in a long-range plan for complete renovation and improvement of city hall offices and facilities.

The electric and water utility owns the building and rents office space to the city.

4 Slayings in Wautoma

BARABOO (AP)— More testimony was slated for today in the murder trial of James D. McBair of Wautoma, charged in the slayings of four persons in March.

McBair, 27, has pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity in the rifle slayings of his estranged wife, her stepfather, stepsister and a baby-sitter.

McBair's father testified Friday that his son had told him before the shooting of the four in a cottage on Fish Lake near Wautoma.

Wausara County Sheriff Virgil Batterman and a deputy testified that three McBairs came to Batterman's home to report the slayings and the officers went to the cottage and found the bodies.

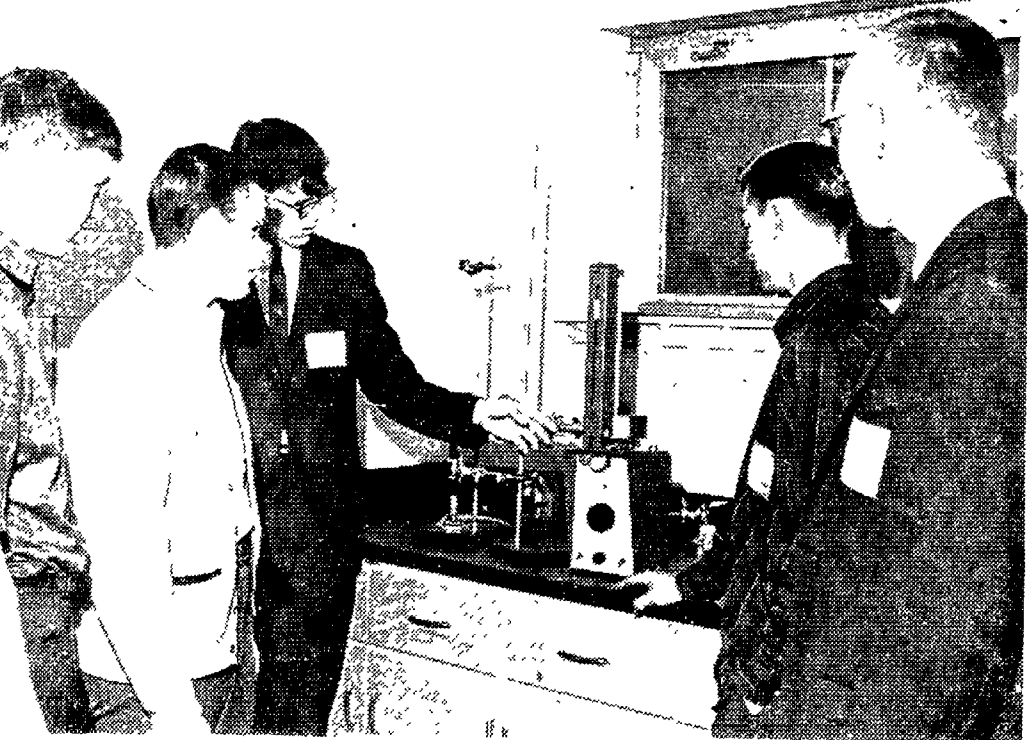

'Wish I Had Guts'
The sheriff quoted the young McBair as saying "I wish I had the guts to shoot my own father."

Another witness was Dr. Kenneth Dixon of Marshfield, a pathologist who performed autopsies on three victims. He said the bodies were riddled with as

Appleton to Make 'Last' Try For $100,000 From County

City Will Ask Board Wednesday For College Avenue Funds

Appleton officials will appear before the Outagamie County Board Wednesday to seek allocation of $100,000 in highway funds to be applied to detraying the cost of College Avenue reconstruction.

Members of the city council's street - sanitation committee, meeting at the city hall Friday afternoon, decided to take the action which they described as "a last-ditch attempt to get some cooperation".

Earlier in the week, County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler, Appleton, wrote Mayor George Buckley he and the county highway committee had decided Appleton would not get the $100,000.

At the same time, Esler said the city had been under "a misconception of fact" and that College Avenue was not eligible for federal funds.

Verbal Commitment
In meetings with Esler and members of the highway committee and county board's executive committee over the past year — city officials received a verbal commitment that the $100,000 would be made available in June.

City officials have charged that the 47 member county board has not been kept informed on city-county matters, and lay the blame to a small group headed by Esler.

By next week's meeting the city intends to send a letter of explanation to every member of the county board and then have Ald. Roy Pointer (14th), street-sanitation committee chairman, and others appear to answer questions county supervisors might have.

Pointer told the committee yesterday that previously the city had asked for an audit report on county funds expended for road improvements over the past year — the purpose being to prove the city's case that it is unable to get the audit or a copy of the county highway department budget.

"We may have to subpoena county highway department records to obtain the information and figures to explain our position," Pointer told the committee. Members agreed it should be considered.

However, Pointer said he did not want to appear to be hostile, declaring, "I think we should work together — the city and county — but sometimes certain things have to be done."

Ald. Walter Kalata (2nd) said he interpreted the actions of Esler and others as a flat rejection of the city's request.

"The problem appears to be that we can't get to the board and explain our position so it can be given fair consideration," Kalata said.

'Rurally Oriented' Board
And, Ald. Arthur Hoolihan (9th), who is also a member of the county board, said one of the problems was that "the board is rurally oriented."

Pointer reviewed various meetings held with county officials over a period of a year or so and recalled or more than one occasion the city was promised the $100,000.

Contrary to Esler's letter, Pointer said, the city received information from the Wisconsin Highway Commission at Green Bay that College Avenue did qualify for aid under the Federal Aid System.

Theft of Tools Costs Appleton Man $50 Fine And 10 Days in Jail

Theft of a six-piece wrench set and a caliber gauge cost a 60-year-old Appleton man 10 days in jail and a $50 fine Friday afternoon.

Oliver A. Besaw, 731 W. Winnebago St., admitted in Outagamie County Court Branch Friday that he stole the items Sept. 8 from Sears Roebuck and Co., 312 W. College Ave.

Appleton police arrested Besaw if the $50 fine is not paid. Besaw will have to serve another 21 days in jail.

Outstanding Athlete
McBair said his son had been "a good boy," an outstanding athlete, a prom king and class president in high school, but had changed markedly after marrying while a high school senior.

That marriage ended in divorce several years later, the witness said, and the younger McBair later married the woman he is accused of slaying.

Batterman testified that after the McBairs came to his home early March 5, he and a deputy went to the cottage and found the bodies of Mrs. Carol McBair and her stepsister on the floor of a bedroom, while a 14-year-old babysitter lay dead in bed with two small uninjured McBair children.

Batterman said McBair also said he shot "Marge" — his mother-in-law, but apparently had slain his stepsister instead, since Mrs. Marvin Behr was not at the cottage.

Cyclist Injured In Accident

James P. Wachtendonk, 17, 908 Harrison St., was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital with bruises to both knees and an injured left hip after the motorbike he was riding rammed into the rear of a car about 7:30 p.m. Friday at the intersection of Prospect Avenue and Outagamie Street.

Appleton police said a car driven by Arnold C. Kessler Jr., 43, 1610 S. Seminole Drive, was traveling east on Prospect and had slowed to make a left turn onto Outagamie when the youth's motorbike crashed into the rear of the vehicle. Wachtendonk told police he saw the car's brake light but he was too close to avoid the crash.

Madison Firm to Present Brief On Potential of District 12

A brief on the type of advance consultant for the state of planning that could be done for Wisconsin, preparing a study on the Area 12 Vocational, Technical education needs, facilities in School (VTE) will be presented to the board for consideration at the Sept. 25 meeting by Max Anderson Associates, Madison, planning consultants.

The request for the brief was made by the VTE board at a field special meeting Friday.

Anderson, who told members his firm had been responsible for 90 planning projects across the country, explained that a project of this type could be done in phases and that the first phase would show the board how the firm would proceed with such a study.

Among the areas to be included in such a study, as outlined by William Sirek, VTE 12 director, are the location of the plant, financial possibilities of the area and the curriculum.

Adult Enrollment
"We have to keep in mind adult enrollment, the type of industry and agriculture of the area and highway accessibility," Sirek said.

He added that program needs will include studies in the field of trades and industry, business and marketing, graphics, health occupations, and food services.

"It would be up to you to find out if the statistics show that we need such programs," he said.

Anderson said that he could not now give the cost of such an undertaking but advised members that their plans should include a substantial contingency.

Involve Community
He also advised them to involve the people in the community in such a project and keep them informed at all times. This was a necessary criterion for the success of a project.

Hawks Deal Springs 34-0 FVCC Loss

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
Xavier High School opened its defense of the Fox Valley Catholic Conference title on a successful and convincing note at Goodland Field Friday night by rolling to a 34-0 victory over Fond du Lac St. Mary Springs.

So completely did the Hawks out-play the Ledgers that Springs was held to a minus 14 yards rushing, failed to get a first down and did not complete a pass in the game.

The Hawks ran up a pair of touchdowns in the first period, one coming on a 55-yard pass on the third play from scrimmage, and then added single TDs in the second, third and fourth periods.

Used Substitutes
Coach Gene "Torchy" Clark's charges could have pushed the margin to even more, but the Hawk mentor began using substitutes in the second period and kept shuffling players throughout the second half.

Backfield mainstays Brad Graff and Jerry Rankin each scored a pair of touchdowns for the Hawks, and senior Paul Van Handel added the other. In addition, Graff booted a pair of extra points from placement and Mike Barras caught a pair of passes for extra points.

Rankin was the workhorse in the backfield, as he carried 11 times and gained 89 yards. Graff had 59 yards in 10 carries. Nine different players carried the ball for the Hawks in the game.

Down Sidelines
The Hawks got off to a fast start in the opening period after taking the opening kickoff. Two running plays netted 12 yards, then quarterback Greg Steinhorst tossed a pass in the flat to Graff who wheeled 55 yards down the sidelines for the first third play of a series that began with the Terror 35-yard stripe, point was to the left.

Minutes later, the Hawks were strike to end Gordy Redlin for on the scoreboard again when a remained 13-0 when Appleton Pfefferle, bounced up into the hands of Rankin and he grabbed it on the 22 and rumbled into the punt nine times in the game, end zone untouched. This time kicked out again early in the third period and Oshkosh took over on its own 47. OHS took eight plays to hit paydirt again, staged a 61-yard scoring march this time Elbing scampering, midway in the quarter. Graff last 18 yards on an option.

Fullback Steve Koch got into the scoring act when he rammed through the middle from seven All of the yardage in the drive yards away for the first of two final-quarter Oshkosh TDs. Jim Steiner got the last score for Oshkosh, also on a 7-yard bolt. The final Indian TD was set up when Nate Gorr intercepted an Appleton pass and ventured to the Terror 27.

The two Terror quarterbacks completed only two of 16 passes and had one intercepted. The team garnered only two first downs and lost four fumbles.

Fullback Dennis Wiesner proved to be the lone offensive threat for Appleton, managing to pick up 16 yards in seven carries. Steve Olson provided a spark on defense with an intercepted pass and a fumble recovery.

Xavier added the fifth touchdown in the fourth period when Van Handel charged in from the one. The Hawks got in position for the score when a bad pass from center on a punt resulted in Xavier getting the ball on the Springs 30. Graff again passed to Barras for the point.

About the only bright spot for the Ledgers was the fine punting of Paul Walgenbach. He averaged 35.9 on eight boots. Walgenbach also had a busy night in the backfield carrying the ball 16 times.

Fond du Lac Posts Second Straight Win

Kiel's Randy Freis Runs Back Two Kick-Offs for TDs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Neenah's Rockets, the hottest items in Wisconsin High School football a year ago, are flaring once more after a fizzling start.

Neenah, blanked by Green Bay Preble 6-0 last week in a game that saw the Rockets gain only five first downs and 104 yards in total offense, turned with vengeance Friday night on Two Rivers—a team that whipped 1966's No. 3 small school Grafton last week.

The Rockets racked up 401 yards rushing alone with Brian Cannon booming for 143 of them and Dan Rider for 111. Rider and Cannon each scored two touchdowns.

Among the individual stars in Friday night's games was Tom Wilkins of Onalaska, who helped account for all his team's touchdowns in a 28-0 win over Bangor. The senior quarterback ran for three touchdowns and passed for another, ran for an extra point and intercepted three passes. He gained 178 yards rushing and 133 passing.

Randy Freis of Kiel was equally impressive. He ran back the opening kickoff 84 yards for one touchdown and ran back a second period kickoff 83 yards for another. Kiel was still behind as his game with Sheboygan Falls neared an end. But Freis fixed that. The junior halfback faked a punt on fourth down and six to go and reeled off a 64 yard touchdown run that gave Kiel a 19-13 victory.

Fondy Triumphs
In other games, Fond du Lac, surprise conqueror of Oshkosh in the Fox River Valley Conference last weekend, added another victim, beating Green Bay East 6-0.

Oshkosh bounced back with a 32-0 win over Appleton West. Sturgeon Bay, a team that could be a northeastern Wisconsin power, humbled Pulaski 37-0.

Marshfield Columbus, horrendous last season—a rebuilding year—apparently rebuilt well. The Dons racked up their third straight rival, downing La Crosse Aquinas 33-12. Columbus already owns a win over usually strong Superior.

Wausau, a Big Rivers Conference contender, slugged Eau Claire North 28-0 for its third straight win.

Madison Edgewood, a strong independent, won 33-0 over Milwaukee Wisconsin Lutheran.

Whitefish Bay, a power of the Milwaukee Suburban conference, crushed Waukesha 34-7 while Milwaukee Pius, Milwaukee Catholic Conference contenders, blew down Milwaukee Cathedral 41-0.

Rockets Rip Two Rivers In M-E, 42-0

TWO RIVERS — Dispelling doubts about the possibility of having a weaker team this fall, the Neenah High School Rockets rolled to a 42-0 victory over Two Rivers in the Mid-Eastern Conference opener for both teams here Friday night.

After Neenah's loss to Preble a week ago, there was some speculation that the defending champion Rockets might not be the dominating club in the M-E. However, Friday night's convincing performance should change that thinking.

Neenah rolled up 401 yards rushing and held the Purple Raiders to a minus 68 yards on the ground.

Hold 12-0 Lead
The Rockets failed to score in the first period and held only a 12-0 lead at halftime. Things changed in the third quarter when Neenah racked up 15 more points and then added another 13 in the final stanza.

Brian Cannon and Dan Rider were the standouts for the Rockets. Cannon gained 143 yards rushing and scored twice. Rider picked up 111 yards rushing and also added a pair of TDs.

Cannon scored the first Neenah touchdown when he went over from the 8-yard line in the second period. The other second period score came on a 1-yard plunge by Tim Anderson. Both kicks for the point after failed.

Another Touchdown
Rider added another touchdown for Neenah when he scored on a 1-yard burst after a sustained march. The Rockets got a safety when Mike Kosmerchich tackled the Two Rivers Quarterback in the end zone. The other touchdown of the quarter came when Rider went over from the 8 and Dan Jankowski made good on the extra point try.

Cannon broke loose for a 48-yard touchdown jaunt in the fourth quarter and Jankowski booted the point after. The final touchdown came when Kevin Milliken went over from the 17 with a fumble he picked off the ground.

George Archer Leads Tourney

Casper 3 Shots Behind in Classic At Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A one-time Cowboy placed his brand on the $110,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic Friday. To a day, however, he'll have to watch 78 would-be rustlers if he hopes to retain his prize—a three-stroke lead after 36 holes of the 72-hole tournament.

The ex-cowboy, George Archer, who admits he used to clean out barns and ride the range in Gilroy, Calif., shot a six-under par 31-35-66 in Friday's second round play. It left him with a 36-hole score of 134, 10 under par for the 6,708-yard Whitemarsh Valley Country Club course.

Riding hard behind him is Billy Casper, who shot a 33-35-68 for a total of 137.

Archer has to be peering over his shoulder at Casper, one of the five players on the tour who has won more than $100,000 this year.

Slips to Third
Still in contention and capable of laosing the $22,000 first prize is Australia's Bruce Devlin, the first round leader who skied from a 65 to a 73 and slipped to third place with a 138.

Doug Ford, Master's champion Gay Brewer, Bob Charles and Dan Sikes were bracketed at 139.

Archer, who stands 6-foot-6 and plays as big a game, said his driving and putting were the secrets to his round of six birdies and 12 pars.

Decline in Grid Injuries Shown In 1966 Season

STEVENS POINT (AP)—The Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association said Friday that football injuries decreased by an estimated seven per cent during the 1966 season.

On the basis of incomplete statistics, the WIAA said the 1966 injuries sustained by 34,391 players last season—a decrease of nearly seven per cent from 1965.

Lions Risk Opening-Tilt Win Streak

Packers Launch Title Bid

By KEN HARTNETT

GREEN BAY (AP) — The all-conquering Green Bay Packers, seemingly even deeper and quicker than a year ago, begin their bid for a third straight National Football League crown Sunday when they meet the Detroit Lions in a season opener.

The Lions haven't lost an opening game since 1960 and will be making their official debut under new head coach Joe Schmidt.

But the Packers haven't lost a game in their last 13, including last season's NFL title contest with Dallas, the Super Bowl with Kansas City and six exhibition games this summer.

Gone are their long-time backfield stars Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung but installed in their place are a faster and younger crew that includes the veteran Elijah Pitts, bonus babies Jim Grabowski and Donny Anderson, the veteran Ben Wilson, and talented rookie, Travis Williams.

Grabowski Averages 5
Grabowski, who is expected to start in a backfield that will also include Pitts and the NFL's Most Valuable Player, quarterback Bart Starr, averaged five yards per carry in the exhibition season.

The Packers are seeking their fifth title in seven seasons. Should they succeed, they would be the first team since the NFL went to a playoff system in 1933 to win three successive crowns.

Lionel Aldridge, a defensive end, is the only member of the league's top defensive unit in 1966 who will not be in action Sunday. He is out for at least another three weeks with a broken leg.

Either Bob Brown or Jim Weatherwax, both 6-foot-7, 265-pounders, will take Aldridge's place.

The only change in the offensive line is at guard. Second-year man Gale Gillingham will take the place of veteran Fuzzy Thurston. Veteran Jerry Kramer remains at the other guard post.

The Lions, a team that Packers Coach Vince Lombardi considers much improved, are hoping the appointment of the respected ex-linebacker Schmidt to the head coaching job will improve team morale—an asset not apparent last season.

Schmidt has not announced his choice of a starting quarterback but Karl Sweetan is expected to get the nod over the veteran Milt Plum. Mel Farr, an exciting rookie running back, is expected to start along with Amos Marsh in the Detroit backfield.

One major change is in the defensive line. Gone is the mammoth Roger Brown, traded to Los Angeles. In his place will be Jerry Rush, a three-year veteran.

The Packers whipped the Lions twice last season, 23-14 and 31-7.

Tigers Tie for Lead As White Sox' Horlen Stops Minnesota, 7-3

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Joel Horlen has everything back in the proper perspective, and the Chicago White Sox are beginning to see the light again.

Horlen, the near-sighted Chicago ace who pitched a no-hitter last Sunday against Detroit, held Minnesota to three hits Friday night as the White Sox gained precious ground in the American League stretch race with a 7-3 triumph over the Twins.

Shortstop Ron Hansen backed Horlen with four hits, including a pair of homers, and four RBI in the White Sox' third straight victory—which sent them within 1½ games of first place and helped create a three-way tie at the top between Minnesota, Boston and Detroit.

The Tigers, who rallied for a 5-4 victory over Washington, the Red Sox, who bowed to Baltimore 6-2, and the Twins all are 84-64 with 14 games remaining. Chicago has an 83-66 mark with 13 games to play.

Elsewhere in the AL, the New York Yankees downed Cleveland 5-1 and California shaded Kansas City 2-1 in 11 innings.

Discards Glasses
Horlen, who had been wearing glasses while pitching for the last two years, discarded the specs recently—with spectacular results for the White Sox. He has allowed just two runs in reeling off three straight victories—including the no-hitter for a 17-6 season record.

"I haven't been wearing them in my last four or five starts," he said. "I needed them because I couldn't see the signs and the edges of the plate." But suddenly, I thought they were making the plate too far away. It's far enough away as it is. So I decided to try it again without them."

A walk, Rod Carew's infield hit and a throwing error by Hansen gave the Twins a 1-0 lead in the second inning. But Hansen's two-run single and a run-scoring single by Horlen sent the Sox ahead to stay in the bottom of the second and the Twins didn't get another hit until the ninth.

Then Harmon Killebrew doubled with two out and Oliva unloaded his 15th homer. "I wanted to get the one-hitter," Horlen said. "I've never had one."

"I was tired in the ninth and Killebrew just conked the ball pretty good. Then all I wanted to do with Oliva was make him hit the ball, but he hit it too darned well."

Hansen, who came into the game batting .229, extended his consecutive hit string to six in two games with two singles and his seventh and eighth homers—the first he has hit since July 1.

"The zombies are still walking," Manager Eddie Stanky said of his tenacious Sox, who were three games out on Wednesday.

The Tigers overcame a 4-1 Washington lead on Bill Freehan's three-run homer in the eighth inning, then broke the tie in the ninth on a run-scoring single by Willie Horton, who had struck out three times.

Hits 20th Homer
Freehan's 20th homer followed a single by Jim Northrup and a walk, and nullified a two-run double and long homer by Billy Casper, who shot a 33-35-68 for a total of 137.

Archer has to be peering over his shoulder at Casper, one of the five players on the tour who has won more than $100,000 this year.

Slips to Third
Still in contention and capable of laosing the $22,000 first prize is Australia's Bruce Devlin, the first round leader who skied from a 65 to a 73 and slipped to third place with a 138.

Doug Ford, Master's champion Gay Brewer, Bob Charles and Dan Sikes were bracketed at 139.

Archer, who stands 6-foot-6 and plays as big a game, said his driving and putting were the secrets to his round of six birdies and 12 pars.

Decline in Grid Injuries Shown In 1966 Season
STEVENS POINT (AP)—The Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association said Friday that football injuries decreased by an estimated seven per cent during the 1966 season.

On the basis of incomplete statistics, the WIAA said the 1966 injuries sustained by 34,391 players last season—a decrease of nearly seven per cent from 1965.

Sasse Paces Truckers Past Menasha

CLINTONVILLE — Bill Sasse completed eight passes for 230 yards and three touchdowns in leading the Clintonville High School Truckers to a 21-0 victory over Menasha in a Mid-Eastern Conference game here Friday night.

Two of Sasse's touchdown fied by a clipping penalty and aerials went to Paul Hoffman and the other was to Ray Grant.

In addition, the Truckers scored a safety when Menasha's Steve Seidl was tackled in the when he collaborated with Grant on a 14-yard scoring play. The point try was blocked.

In the third quarter Sasse and Hoffman teamed up on a 71-yard pass play. Again the point try from placement was no good.

Late in the third period, Sasse hit Hoffman again on a 14-yard play. This time Kieth Taroubek added the point as he split the uprights with a boot.

Menasha had the better of the rushing statistics piling up 155 yards compared to 47 for the Menasha

Truckers. However, the 230 in the air made the difference for Clintonville as Menasha gained 45 on passes.

CCHE Accused of Political Motives

Agency Not Interested in Serving Needs of Education, Regent Says

BY TIM WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

RACINE — A former president of the University of Wisconsin Board of Regents Friday blistered the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education for "political" interference in education while the UW's president lashed out at state administrative agencies controlling his budget for increased amounts of "red tape."

The moves are seen in some quarters as a reflection of the fact that administrative controls over the UW are growing exactly as planned when the executive agencies were recreated.

The regents had earlier heard

Water Wheel Is New Attraction At Grignon Home

KAUKAUNA — A new tourist attraction is being erected near the historic Grignon Home, dedicated to the late L. F. Nelson who served several terms as mayor.

A water wheel, similar to the one he was instrumental in having constructed at the falls of the former Badger Tissue Mills is now being constructed at the tail race below the fourth government lock across from the Grignon Home.

Located 20 feet below the falls, the wheel will be turned by an undershoot of water and will generate its own power for lighting. The wheel is being built with private funds and coordinator of the project is David Flanagan who is working in cooperation with Ross Plaine and the Army Corps of Engineers.

Dedication of the wheel is set for 3 p.m. Sept. 23.

Town of Center Constable Found Dead in His Home

Frank Wagner, 76, route 2, Black Creek, Town of Center, constable for 12 years, was found dead in his home about 6 p.m. Friday.

Authorities said he was found by his son, Lloyd Wagner, 3332 N. Morrison St., Appleton.

Bernard H. Kemps, Outagamie County Coroner, said Wagner had been dead about 24 hours when he was found. He lived alone. Kemps said death was due to heart failure. He had suffered a heart condition for a number of years.

Wagner's body was released to Valley Funeral Home where funeral arrangements are pending.

Purse, Checkbook Stolen From Car

Carol Schutte, 177 N. Plummer Court, Neenah, reported that her purse was taken from a car Friday night while she was dining at the VFW Club, 501 N. Richmond St.

She told Appleton police less than $1 in change was in the purse along with a gas company and department store credit cards, driver's license and personal papers.

Owner of the car, Mark Schmidt, 2020 N. Lyndale Drive, later reported his checkbook was missing from the glove compartment.

UW Center Teacher Joins Advisory Group

Dr. Elmer Havens, assistant professor of English at University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center, was appointed today to an advisory group to study two-year campus programs.

His appointment was made by the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education and is part of the state group's plan to evaluate and propose academic programs in areas of strategic needs.

Rescue Try Fails to Save Appleton Woman

Appleton firemen were unsuccessful in their attempts to revive a 72-year-old woman who died at her home Thursday afternoon.

The rescue squad was summoned at 1:04 p.m. to administer oxygen to Mrs. Laura Panfield, 1112 E. Glendale Ave. Firemen gave the woman oxygen until a doctor came to the home and pronounced her dead. She reportedly suffered from a heart condition.

Kaukauna Man Heads Sanatorium Group

WAUSAU — Dr. John G. Russo, superintendent of Riverview Sanatorium, Kaukauna, was elected president of the Wisconsin Sanatorium Superintendents Association Friday at the group's annual convention.

Meeting with the superintendents was the state Sanatorium Trustees Association which elected a Green Bay man, Gordon Jarstad, as its president.

from UW Vice President Robert Clodius that a $394 million biennial budget adopted by the legislature for the system represented an "erosion" of quality improvement in educational programs for state residents.

Arthur DeBardeleben, of Park Falls, until this summer president of the regents and a member of the CCHE, scorched the coordinating committee in an attack in which he accused it of being political.

"Their interest is in pleasing the legislature and the government, not in serving the needs of education," he said.

Republican Dominance

DeBardeleben, a Democrat, said that present Republican domination of state government is not the problem with the CCHE. It simply attempts to serve government rather than education, he said.

The coordinating committee served education better before it was re-structured two years ago, according to the regent. That move gave increased power to citizen members and came as a reaction to widespread charges that the state collegiate systems actually control the body.

DeBardeleben assailed the CCHE for attempting to apply guidelines for space and business management in higher education as is done throughout state government.

The discussions came during the presentation of a paper by regent Vice President Charles Gelatt, LaCrosse, on the relationship of the University with the state. Gelatt said that some of the ideas in the document were not his and came from the UW administration.

UW President Fred Harrington then joined in with an attack on state budget agencies.

Growing Red Tape

Red tape is growing to the point that it is cutting into educational efficiency, he told his board. The UW must retain its right to do things the way it wishes in business administration, he argued.

Some observers suggest that the blasts were the opening of a possible battle over decreasing the recently enacted budget if the UW's enrollment expectations are not met.

Last year the UW and state universities overestimated their enrollments and had to return about $1 million and $800,000 respectively to the state treasury.

The money had been budgeted to teach students who did not appear in the classrooms.

Throughout the recent budget process, the systems were warned that similar overestimates would lead to more reductions.

Classes start on most campuses next week.

Conservatives Oppose Bill for Standards for Police Recruiting

MADISON — A bill creating minimum state standards for new police recruits in Wisconsin is being opposed by many conservatives on the Legislature's Joint Committee on Finance who argued that it would create centralized police authority.

Proposed by the Governor's Commission on Law Enforcement and Crime, the bill would create a 12-man council to draw up minimum educational and training requirements for local police officers throughout the state.

Conservatives, headed by Assemblymen Kenneth Merkell, R-Brookfield, and Merrill Stalbaum, R-Waterford, argued that the appointment route created for the council would allow up to seven "fuzzies" to dominate standards for police on every level in Wisconsin.

Defines 'Fuzzy'

Merkell defined a "fuzzy" as a person who bends over backwards to defend the rights of criminals and forgets all about the person who has been wronged. He is more interested in convicting a policeman of brutality than in convicting the wrongdoer.

The bill, drafted by the special commission headed by Wisconsin Supreme Court Justice Bruce W. Beufuss, and aided by former Federal Bureau of Investigation Special Agent Delbert Manson, would provide approved police training for all future local law enforcement in Wisconsin.

Appointments

The 12-man council would contain 10 gubernatorial appointments, the attorney general and the non-voting special agent in charge of the Milwaukee FBI office.

Gubernatorial appointments would include three representatives of directly-affected law enforcement agencies, two delegates from local governments, affected two public members, two appointees from higher education and the state vocational system and a district attorney.

Some of the people you are going to appoint are the ones making excuses for criminals. Judges, university professors, I can see room for seven fuzzies on this board. A lot of these people seem to be more in favor of the criminal he charged.

Purpose of the advisory council would be to create minimum educational standards and training standards for new police recruits. Present policemen would be unaffected by the bill, although many would train to meet the requirements to win future advancement.

A two-year period would be allowed to meet the required training standards after joining a local law enforcement agency.

State employees already under state standards would be exempted as chiefs of police of over 10,000 population.

UW Centers Appoint Arts Coordinator

Doctorate Candidate To Guide Programs In University System

A Brooklyn, N.Y. native has been appointed first coordinator of art, music and fine arts programs for the Fox Valley Center and other campuses of the University of Wisconsin Center System, according to Elmer Meyer, assistant vice chancellor.

Norman Kaderian, 24, will take about a week from his graduate studies in the management to assist the system in arranging cultural programs on Center campuses.

Although Kaderian's academic background is in the sciences, he won his bachelor's degree in life sciences from Massachusetts Institute of Technology and his MS from the University of Wisconsin in history of science — much of his work experience is in the management.

Kaderian will be working in a program in which during the second semester last spring had a budget of $20,000 and drew in estimated 11,000 persons to 40 separate cultural programs at the Fox Valley Center and 10 other freshman sophomore centers.

His specific duties will include arranging bookings, keeping up with programs that might be interrupted and helping Center units in economic management of cultural programs.

Fond du Lac Man Arraigned on Bank Burglary

MILWAUKEE — AP — Richard H. Davis, 30, of Fond du Lac was arraigned in federal court today on charges of burglarizing the bank of Peoria, Ill.

He appeared before U.S. Commissioner John C. McLeod on charges of taking $70,000 in blank travel checks and $164 in cash in the burglary of the bank June 29. He was ordered to hold in lieu of $10,000 bond.

Davis was arrested Tuesday at his home Tuesday and charged with interstate transportation of stolen travelers' checks. St. Appleton has been taken on stolen travelers' checks. Arraigned before a federal judge, Mrs. Carl Nagan, 516 Wisconsin Ave., St. Appleton, he faces St. Combined Locks charges on a $25,000 travel check bond.

FBI agent said Davis was arrested Thursday on separate charges in the bank burglary. He is charged with taking $70,000 in blank travel checks and $164 in cash in the burglary of the bank June 29. He was ordered to hold in lieu of $10,000 bond.

Vandals Wreck Little Chute Park Shelter

LITTLE CHUTE — Damage caused by vandals in the Dwyer Park shelter house could amount to $300, police said Tuesday.

The building was damaged with a rock thrown through a window. One of the vandals was seen from the shelter house and was arrested. The vandals smashed light bulbs and damaged furniture.

World's Tallest Hippie Must Go

TOPANGA, Calif. — AP — It is probably the tallest hippie in the world.

She stands 6 feet 10 inches tall and weighs 200 pounds.

The hippie is a psychologist painting a mural on the outside wall of the Topanga Shopping Center Art Gallery.

Shopper saw her Wednesday morning. So did her friends. They say she'll have to come down.

The painting in swirls of red, blues and yellows is reportedly the work of a Los Angeles artist named The Gallery owner, Mrs. Barbara Dobson, has been told to remove the painting or a public nuisance complaint will be filed.

New London Man Talks His Way Out of 'Break' Into Jail

A 22-year-old New London Quaintance was brought to jail who was about to get a fore Judge Gustave J. Keller break on his sentence talked again this morning after Outagamie authorities were notified that his parole was to be revoked.

Richard L. Quaintance, 615 Broad St., New London, had court he was paroled from the state reformatory at Green Bay after he served time for burglary and beating an 18-year-old rural Bear Creek girl.

Judge Keller granted Quaintance out probation from the county jail so the New London man could be taken to the reformatory to begin serving the remainder of his term under parole revocation. This would have meant that the rest of the county jail sentence would be served concurrently with the reformatory term.

However, when Judge Keller in questioning Quaintance about the earlier burglary charge, he asked him if he had learned a lesson. The New London man, hands on hips, replied, "I think I have."

The judge, angered by the man's attitude, set aside the out probation order and said him serve out his term.

Mahler Elected Head of Neenah Museum Board

NEENAH — Mrs. Ernst Mahler has been elected president of the board of directors of the City of Neenah Municipal Museum Foundation at the Bergstrom Art Center, it was announced today by J. Russell Ward, treasurer of the center.

Mrs. Mahler, 1450 E. Forest Ave., is a founding member of the Museum Foundation and has shared her late husband's interest in the Bergstrom Art Center since it was organized in 1958.

The late Mr. Mahler was the foundation's first president and continued in that office until his death in August.

Other board members include Ward Mayor Carl Lochning, A. P. Remley, Henry Young and Mrs. C. B. Clark.

Charles M. Brooke Jr. is executive director of the Bergstrom Art Center and Mrs. E. Campbell Cloak is assistant director and curator of paperweights.

Mr. and Mrs. Christian Schneider are resident supervisors.

Teaching Aid From France To Help Hortonville Students

HORTONVILLE — The Community School District will have a foreign language teacher aide during this academic year.

Regis Bouet, 24, comes to Hortonville from Marseilles, France. He will assist Mrs. Daniel Stahmer in all of the French classes. The sixth grade pupils will be given an introductory course continuing in the seventh and eighth grades as an elective and then in the high school where two years of French is offered.

Bouet will work with small conversational groups as a model for classroom drills and acquaint them with French culture.

Bouet will not assume full teaching responsibility but will be assigned blocks of time with each group so that all students of French will profit from his services. He will have several free hours during the school day so he may visit other classes or areas of instruction in the schools. He will be available to civic groups and classes.

Bouet is here under the sponsorship of Amity Institute which is a national foreign language teacher aide program.

He will remain until March 1, 1968. The school has been assigned Marie Jeanne Panel, also from France, to complete the school year.

Legion Donates To Little League

LITTLE CHUTE — The American Legion voted recently to donate $100 to the Little League baseball program in the village and authorized purchase of flags for Cub Scouts and Girl Scouts at Combined Locks.

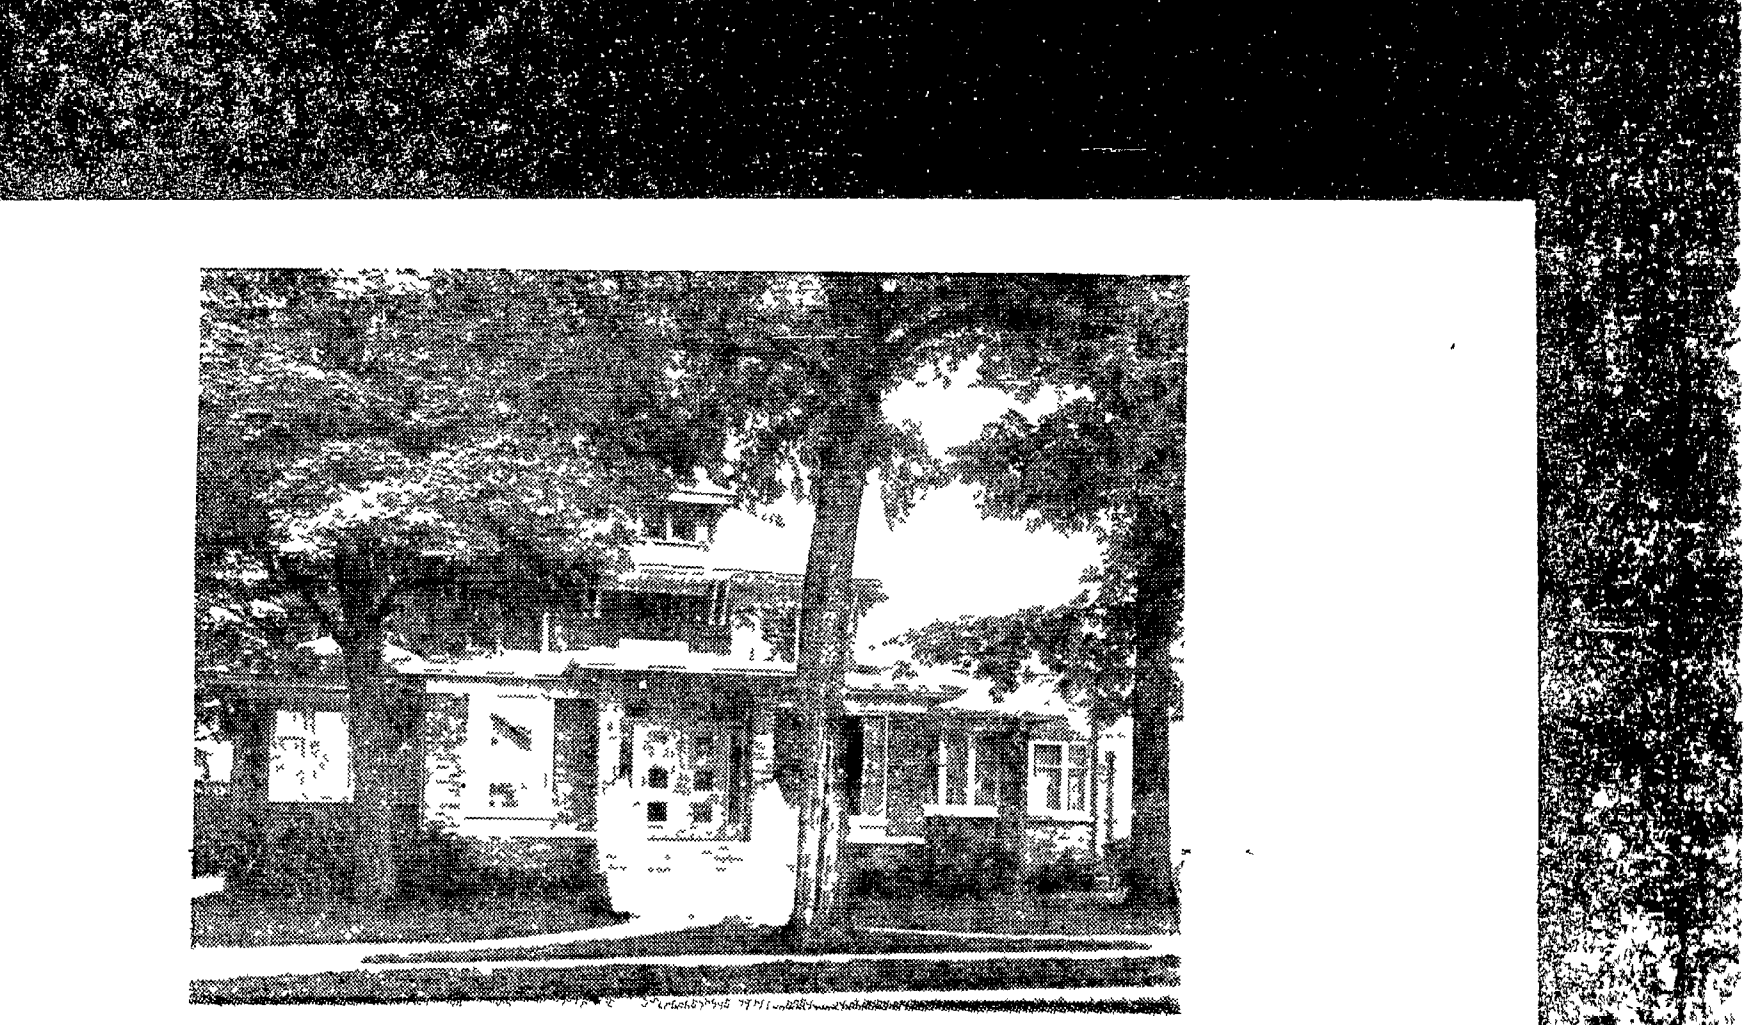

Approval was given to the purchase of a hot water heater for a cabin at Camp American Legion and plans discussed for purchase of a new scoreboard for St. John High School. The unit in cooperation with other organizations will erect four signs at entrances to the community listing the organizations active in the village. Cost is not to exceed $90.

Plans for a sportsmen's show were discussed. The fish and game committee is in charge.

Dance Classes May be Offered in Village

LITTLE CHUTE — The recreation department will offer dance instructions this winter if sufficient youngsters register for the program, according to William Fitzpatrick, recreation director.

Persons may register by day of each month, and are to call the village clerk prior to 4 p.m. Wednesday the winter months.
